Brassard sweeps riding

by Janice Harrington

Incumbent Tory MLA Roy Brassard was swept back into the Legislature last week with a vast majority of the votes in the newly expanded Olds/Didsbury riding.

Brassard garnered 61 percent of the votes made during last Tuesday's election, beating out his closest competitor, Liberal Donna Gole, 8223 votes to 3295.

Brassard, who watched the election results with supporters and campaign workers from his Didsbury election headquarters, took an early lead in the polls. Cheers from the groups went up as each poll tally was registered in the Tory scoreboard. Cheers also went up for each Tory win around the province which supporters watched on televisions set up in the campaign office.

But along with the cheers also came stony silences of disbelief as the Tories took some heavy defeats in the fall of long time cabinet members Ernie Isley, Dick Fowler and Don Sparrow.

"I'm very surprised (at their defeats)," Brassard said. "But that's politics and I think we politicians represent our constituency. It's ultimately them who decide how well we've done."

But while Brassard said he was very surprised by the defeat of Sparrow and Fowler, he said he could understand that of Isley.

"He has been a strong agricultural minister but one of his weaknesses is always telling it like it is. Perhaps that reflected badly."

As for his own re-election, Brassard was pleased and relieved by the vast mandate his constituency made.

"This has been a good race and I feel great because so much work has gone into the campaign," he said. "I know how hard Donna Gole has worked and I really feel for her. I'm glad the way things turned out though. I would feel very uncomfortable if 50 percent of our constituency didn't want me here."

Brassard credited Conservative leader Ralph Klein for his strong showing and the strong showing of the Conservatives around the province. The Tory party won a vast majority of the rural ridings, including the Three Hills-Airdrie riding where PC candidate Carol Haley defeated incumbent Liberal Don McDonald. Innisfail-Sylvan Lake PC MLA Gary Severtsen was also re-elected.

"(Ralph Klein) seems to be a very open, sincere man with

Victory smile

Roy and Sheila Brassard share a hug and a smile as they watch the final results come in for the Olds/Didsbury polling in last week's provincial election. Brassard will now take a third term as the MLA for the area, but is unsure if a cabinet position will be offered to him by Premier Ralph Klein.

Tax hike anger lingers

Town council continues to be under the watchful eyes of its residents these days.

Since hiking taxes an estimated 20 percent last month, more and more homeowners have been turning out at regularly scheduled bi-weekly meetings to voice their opinions.

Ken Weaver just moved to Didsbury three years ago. Weaver told council he feels the increase in taxes is ridiculous.

"I think that we have to attract people to this town and how are we going to do that with a 20 percent increase? There isn't a person in this town who gets a 20 percent increase in their wages this year."

Don Kolenski echoed Weaver's concerns as did Didsburian Gladys Ringheim. Both asked council to explain the rationale behind the increase.

Liberal candidate has no regrets

by Elaine Wilson

At 8:05 p.m. June 15, the mood in Liberal candidate Donna Gole's Olds office was one of quiet optimism, but as the numbers rolled in, the optimism didn't last long.

Supporters of Gole had gathered around a wide screen television, waiting for election results and for Gole's arrival. They didn't have to wait long for either. Conservative victories began multiplying in rapid succession. When Donna Gole walked in to her campaign headquarters, the television tote board suddenly registered another seat for the Liberals. A cheer went up, and one supporter said, "Go back out and come in again, Donna, we'll win this thing yet!"

Campaign workers and supporters quickly filled the office, but mounting Conservative gains soon left little for Liberal stalwarts to cheer about. Less than an hour after the polls closed, the Conservatives were declared elected or leading in enough seats to win a majority.

When the numbers indicated incumbent Roy Brassard would continue as the Olds-Didsbury MLA, Gole accepted the results with equanimity, praising her campaign team for their efforts.

"I'd like to thank them very much," Gole said. "We've worked so hard for over a year, particularly the last 28 days. We've all learned a lot, and certainly have no regrets. I'm sorry that it turned out the way it did because we'd hoped for a stronger showing, but on the other hand, this is a very Conservative constituency and we made big gains. I don't think I'd have done anything differently."

Gole said voters seemed to be counting on Klein's reputation to carry them through the next four years. For her part, she intends pursue a Master's degree and return to her job at Olds College. "I've still got lots to do," she said.

When asked what advice she'd give Roy Brassard, she suggested his first priority should be to listen to the electorate.

"He should represent them accurately, responding to their requests and needs," Gole said.

"I hope [the Conservatives] will be able to deal with the deficit. More than anything I hope they'll come up with a set of substantial plans based on more than just public pressure."

Toxic round up coming

by Janice Harrington

Batteries, household cleaners, insecticides and varnishes are just some of the toxic substances used around the house that the fire department will be collecting next week for the annual toxic Round Up.

The annual event, paid for partially by the provincial government and partially by the town, is organized by the Didsbury Volunteer Fire Department. Volunteers man the toxic round up truck, which will be situated at the fire hall, to collect the hazardous materials residents have been storing for disposal.

Materials deposited with the Toxic Round Up are stored and shipped to the Alberta Special Waste Management facility in Swan Hills for treatment. Hazardous materials experts will be on site for the duration of the event to ensure proper storage of the goods.

The Round Up will be held June 29 from 3 to 7 pm at the rear parking lot of the fire hall. Only household materials will be accepted. Every home has materials which should not be poured down the drain or disposed of in the conventional way because of the potential threat to the environment and people. Examples of these kinds of products are: adhesives, oven cleaners, wood preservatives, anti-freeze, flea powder, pharmaceuticals, solvents, bleach, metal polish, ammonia and photographic chemicals.

Round Up organizers ask that all materials brought to the event be kept in their original containers unless leaky. If the container is leaky, it should be put in another container marked with the type of substance it carries. If you have an unknown substance, notify the workers on the site so they can attempt to classify.

Alberta Special Waste Management treats the chemicals collected around the province during the Household Toxic Round Up for free.

a track record people can believe in," Brassard said. "I think we have come to a new age in politics and it is long overdue. I contribute that totally to Ralph Klein. The man has totally changed the complexion of politics."

Surrounded by his friends and family members after his win, Brassard said he now plans to take a few days off and visit Banff with his wife Sheila and then he hopes to visit Victoria for the birth of a new grandchild. He is unsure if a cabinet position in Klein's new government will be offered.

The Mountain View Health Care Centre has joined a committee along with the Olds and Sundre General Hospitals to look at service sharing and efficiency operations.

"It's not the pool that's causing the problems here, it's the new mowers and graders...that's where the money's going," Ringheim said.

But Mayor Ray Lea reminded those attending the meeting that any money for replaceable equipment comes from a Capital Reserve Budget. "The Town hopes to regain some of this through the sale of some of its land. The funds will be replenished on an on-going basis so you never have to debenture the cost of buying new equipment."

Town Administrator Mike Storey went on to tell the residents that the Capital Reserve Budget was formed six years ago with practically no balance and has grown to approximately $400,000 since that time.

"Spending money foolishly, I don't agree with, but it's our responsibility to take care of our citizens," Mayor Ray Lea added. "We are trying to implement a policy where capital items can be replaced over a period of time so we never run into a bind."

Bowl for champs

The Didsbury Lawn Bowling Club will be holding a special event this weekend to help raise money for the Canadian War Amps Champ program.

Scheduled for June 27, the lawn bowling club is inviting bowlers and non-bowlers alike to participate in the fun and a barbecue following the games.

Festivities are planned to begin at 2 pm.

Town council notes

It will be awhile yet before anyone knows what will become of the land once used for the old swimming pool facility. The Town is contemplating residential developments - single family, while the County of Mountain View School Board is vying to have the land kept as it is now. The open lot area serves as an ideal park-like setting for its school's student athletic activities. A motion was made to remove the community reserve designation from the land and initiate the change over process. An application was made to the Red Deer Regional Planning Commission (RDRPC) to sub-divide the land into four equal frontage properties.

There should be no trouble finding Didsbury's Historical Society anymore. Town council just voted to give the group $300 towards additional signage in town. Mayor Ray Lea feels the money will be well spent.

"They have done a fantastic job over there with a very low budget to work with...I think that if all they're asking for is $300, we owe it to them to help them out by supporting the Society in this manner."

The Town will work in conjunction with Society representatives to determine the specific placement of the signs.

Details are falling into place for the upcoming Street Auction June 26th. Council passed a motion permitting the closure of portions of Didsbury's Main Street and 19th Avenue beginning at 10 a.m. The first-ever event, aimed at promoting shopping at home, will make use of golf carts with P.A. systems and horse-drawn wagons for people to ride in. The Street Auction is being staged by the Didsbury Chamber of Commerce and the local business community.

The "Ts" have been dotted and the "ts" crossed on the new lease agreement between the Town and Recreation Board for the Memorial Complex concession. Councilors approved the lease unanimously after over a month of negotiations. Both the Minor Hockey Association and Figure Skating Club are expected to work closely to see that details of the agreement are carried out fairly throughout the year. An additional motion was passed to transfer ownership of all concession equipment to the Didsbury Minor Hockey Association.

*****

Be sure to take out your garbage in time for Wednesday trash pick-ups now. Just Jo-Kens Disposal - the company hired by the Town to do the job - have asked and have been allowed to go to a one day per week pick-up schedule instead of two. Town Administrator Mike Storey says the reduction in slots won't hurt the calibre of service the company has been able to provide in the past.

"They are going to be buying new trucks and increasing manpower, so this shouldn't create any problems."

Pick-up times will remain the same as they were on the Tuesday/Wednesday routine - 7 - 9 p.m.

"This will enable them to service more of their clients, in other towns more effectively," Storey added.

Recycling reality

Lions club members worked long and hard Saturday to get the frame up for the new recycling centre planned for Didsbury. With the walls now up, electrical and mechanical works should be finished soon. The recycling centre is expected to be opened for business by mid-July.

Liberal enters federal race

by Janice Harrington

With only a few months expected before a federal election is called, a Liberal candidate has been appointed to take on the Conservative and Reform Party candidates in the Wild Rose riding.

Roy Schellnut, a 43-year-old lawyer, won the nomination from the Liberal Party earlier this month. Schellnut, who breeds thoroughbreds as well as practises law, said he feels uniquely qualified to represent the people of this riding.

"I'm a full time farmer and lawyer, so it keeps me pretty busy. (But), I'm a cowboy, that's what I am and that's why I like Alberta."

Schellnut came to Alberta in 1981 after working in Nova Scotia and Ontario. He has worked in the family business, horse-rearing, all of his life. He also worked as a police officer with the Ontario Provincial Police before deciding to return to school.

After working for the Calgary law firm of Macleod Dixon, Schellnut left in 1985 to open his own practise. He said his main practise is in criminal law, but he also handles a number of farm related matters as well.

Schellnut said he has always supported the Liberals and feels Alberta and Canada needs a change from ruinous Conservative policies.

"I believe our present government has just ruined this country," he said. "They would like to place the blame on use, but I don't think they can blame us after 8 years."

"Alberta is a province that has been overlooked by one party all the time and taken for granted by the other," he added. "And as an Albertan, I'm tired of it all. When you look at all the alternatives, there is only Liberal."

Schellnut describes himself as a scrapper and feels he will work hard for the people in the riding. He said his first efforts if elected would be to look at farming concerns, like GRIP and NISA and to help work on paying down the debt.

To date, Schellnut faces competition in the federal race for the Wild Rose riding from incumbent Conservative candidate Louise Feltham and Reform Party candidate Myron Thompson.

Rosebud popular site

At least three sites at Didsbury's Rosebud Valley campground won't be available this summer.

Town Council passed a motion Tuesday leasing them out for three consecutive months to workers from Derrick Drilling Incorporated.

At the standard rate of $10 per night, the long-term campers will bring in an extra $2,700 into town coffers, a price some councilors feel isn't quite enough to cover all possible expenses.

To help cover any potential damages to the premises during the booking, an added $500 is being added to Derrick's bill.

The amount is refundable provided no damages are incurred.

A listing of rules and regulations for the Rosebud camping facility is being forwarded with council's decision to the company's main office.

Travel at home

With the economy still in a slump and jobs on the line, travel may be on the lower end of the list of priorities for this summer. A wise choice for the pocket book, but not as easy to swallow for hard working people looking for a little R and R.

These days, men and women are working harder and harder to come up a continually shrinking paycheque and a continually increasing list of bills. Some have even taken on second and third jobs to try and fill the void. All in all, it's been a hard year.

That's why taking a vacation is so important. Stress is a large factor in health problems and a couple of weeks off could do wonders towards restoring mental equilibrium.

But then we get back to the problem of tiny bank accounts, how are the two supposed to meet?

Actually, to spout a cliché, the answer is in your own backyard. Right here in our county is some of the very best vacation spots the world has to offer. People from around the world come here to visit, so it must be good enough for us.

If you travel around Mountain View, from Carstairs to Sundre, from Olds to Water Valley, you can find excellent, close to home and very affordable ways to really get away from it all and have the experiences you may be looking for. From pampered luxury in local bed and breakfast retreats to physically challenging white water rafting and horse back camping trips, everyone can find their dream vacation without the added cost of airfare, or even hotels.

All of these special vacation ideas, even if it is just car trips for the day, will be featured in a new section to our newspaper called "The Backyard Vacation". Each week, beginning in July, we will feature a segment of the county, highlighting vacation options and interesting places to see, shop or browse. It's a great way for broke vacationers to find out how to spend their summer holidays.

After all, like Dorothy says "there's no place like home!"

Quote of the week

"What's going on in BC and Ontario has impacted far more than we realize, because I think Ray Martin has done a good job. It must be very difficult for him."

MLA Roy Brassard responding to the New Democrats' overwhelming defeat in last week's provincial election.

Reaction on videos

Dear Editor:

Part of the argument I seem to be hearing in our town is that while we personally may not use or approve of X-rated videos in Didsbury we maintain the rights of others to easy access to the same material. The thought here seems to be that viewing sexually explicit material is a victimless moral decision. It is true that not everyone who views X-rated videos is addicted or is prone to criminal behaviour. Yet there is increasing evidence linking pornography to rape and child molesting. I recall reading an article in the Alberta Report of November of 1992 that cited a study done by the Michigan State Police that over a more than 20 year period just over 40 percent of those charged with rape had used some form of pornography immediately before committing their crime. The article also cited a study by the Los Angeles Police Department linking pornography with over two-thirds of the child molestation cases they investigated.

The CRTC has recognized the link to viewing violent material to violent behaviour. A similar link will likely be made between X-rated materials and unlawful sexual behaviours. The Supreme Court in Ruling on the Case of Butler v. Her Majesty, the court said that pornography (specifically certain X-Videos distributed by Mr. Butler) are not a form of protected free speech under the Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

My concern is that we are unnecessarily placing ourselves and our community at risk by allowing X-rated videos to be rented in our town. Why do we want to place the children and women of our community at greater peril by making the stuff more available? In Calgary recently there was a large operation conducted by the police that saw a large number of video stores with some 83 various X-rated titles seized as being obscene.

The right of others to X-rated videos in our community is a fiction because it harms not only the viewers but leads to harming of others. There are and will be victims of this form of pornography. Reduce the danger to our community by keeping this stuff out.

Tom Hinchie

Feelings on movie selection

Dear Editor:

I keep hearing from time to time conversation concerning the recent survey done on X-rated videos, and I have to admit a lot of people feel that it is O.K. if the X-rated videos stay; as it doesn't affect them, is not their business, and is the right of the individual that rents them.

It seems to be a trend to not take a definite stand on issues these days and sometimes it really is much easier, so I really don't blame my friends and co-workers.

I do respect a person's individual rights, but I also feel that people who have been fortunate enough not to grow up in an abusive situation should maybe consider what the abusers and their victims say about the effect pornography has on the situation they find themselves in.

I am an individual many of you see often in this community of ours. I also have a right to try to protect the safety of our children, and the safety of our community.

Pornography has a direct effect on sexual abuse. I believe this because I have survived years of sexual abuse which

Pen pal plea from Africa

Dear Honourable Editor:

I am spurred on by an ambition and the sense of achievement of an understanding and of continuing the quest for exploring familiar and new things though it is thus hoped, it will provide new incentive and will be of interests to all ages. It is a matter full of considerable and mutual interests. One important aspect is, there is no limit to the possibilities of faith and comprehensive understanding.

Again, one has a host of definitions to choose from, therefore, this aim is to be achieved by promoting close cooperation, contacts and of fostering friendship with various people regardless of race, creed and colour. There are people with diverse interests and backgrounds who want to meet and get to know about my country, its people, its resources and products, its historical and contemporary directions.

We tend to forget that all countries are composed of individuals who may share the same interests and hobbies, no matter where they are. Our earth is the home of the entire human family. All people live on it together and share the same basic needs and desires. Nothing could be further from the truth.

I am completely in great need of your help and trusting that this request will serve my purpose also it should be highly enlightening one for others. I dedicated to good friendship. It is a joint responsibility in seeing that we both receive the proper satisfaction and happiness in fulfilling our obligations.

In confidence of faith, I could say your functions should be to help and encourage our understanding further and deeper. My experience led me to devote my life to the elimination of ignorance. Kindly be good enough to show your spirit of hospitality, even though, you are generous in your help to publish this, in your widely circulated newspaper then I have enough faith to believe it possible.

One factor should be kept in mind that I am a Nigerian (African) young man and my hobbies are reading, travelling, exchange visits, sports and games, cooking, baking, music, dancing, photography and exchange gifts such as art, music, calabashes, sand paintings, ebony carvings, African music, dye cloths, talking, drums and etc.

In every area of endeavors, I am looking forward to progressing towards a better understanding and friendship as we learn about one another but more than all, it gives me pleasure to perceive that you have concluded to look upon the world like a man in his senses.

I am equally keen and fascinated by the Canadian cookery books of any kind, Canada Hospitality Law book, International Hospitality Law books, sports shirts, sportswears, sweat shirts, jackets, pullovers, T-shirts and etc. All in medium size.

I will like to correspond with people from all over the world. I am deeply concerned to receive your reply through Via-Air Mail if possible in English, French or German as you may desire. For a host of reasons, I never lost sight of my ultimate goal but I draw the necessary conclusion that your response is just of great significance and may be even more rewarding.

Kindly treat this, as a matter of great importance and of extreme urgency. I show tremendous respect for you and profound thanks for your concern shown to me.

I am looking forward to your contribution which I am sure, I can count on.

Thanking you in anticipation.

Yours truly,

Inside views on the new P.M.

Dear Editor:

When a new president of the United States is sworn into office there is a lot of excitement and celebration but in Canada there is little fuss when a new Prime Minister arrives on the scene. Most Canadians barely recognize the transition and for many it is just another working day. However, June 25th will mark a historic occasion when we welcome the 19th Prime Minister of Canada to office.

Since 1918, when Canadian women were first given the right to vote, there have been many women who have entered the political realm at all levels. Women have taken their rightful place on School Boards, Municipal Councils, in the Legislature, in Parliament, and now as the Prime Minister of Canada. Canada has always been a forward looking country that is not frightened by change!

Last week at the convention in Ottawa we had some good candidates run for the leadership of the P.C. party. When the delegates considered the qualifications and the remarks of each candidate, gender did not become an issue. Kim was selected for her leadership abilities, her sincerity, her fresh ideas, her vision of Canada, her commitment to this country and its future.

Kim believes in "doing politics differently". To put it into her words "In democracy, government isn't something that a small group of people does to everyone else. It's not even something that they do for everyone else. It should be something they do with everyone else".

We have high expectations for our new Prime Minister. I am sure that she will live up to them.

Didsbury community bus news

by A. Pringle

The annual meeting of the Didsbury and Community Bus was held June 3.

A busy year was reported - many trips having been made. The new executive for the coming year is - President, Chas. Topping; Vice Pres. Dave Smith

Sr.; Treasurer, Ron Patten; Secretary, Lloyd Tevendale. Directors are Elsie Brander, Ted Topping, Stu Tighe and Annie Pringle, news reporter.

All bookings are made through the Recreation Board. The executive are looking forward to a good year - both financially and trip wise as in 1992.

Didsbury library news

The Library Summer Club will run this summer from July 7 till August 18. Children in Grades 1 to 4 are invited to come and play our reading game on Wednesdays at 10 a.m., 11 a.m., 1 p.m., or 2 p.m. The theme of the game is Summer Safari and it is designed to bridge the reading gap created by summer holidays. It gives students an opportunity to maintain their reading levels from June until September and some may even improve. The game itself encourages reading while playing - players will read directions and African trivia, and read to solve puzzles, but the part the children enjoy the most is receiving prizes for reading 2 books a week at home. Six Didsbury businesses (Didsbury Drugs, Contemporary Graphics, Video Break, K & W Drive In, F.C.S.S., and Mountainview Bakery) sponsor the program with great prizes.

The program is free, thanks to their contributions! Registration is required and starts today, Tuesday, June 22. If you are going away for part of the summer don't worry - the program is flexible.

Hospital Corner

The Board of Trustees of Mountain View Health Care Centre wishes to place large pictures (like those in Acute Care) in Long Term Care for the enjoyment of the residents. These pictures should be of the Didsbury and surrounding County area, and should depict the agricultural, industrial and social climate from the 1900's to the present day.

We are inviting the community to submit photographs or large negatives that could be used for enlarging. They should be well focused with not too much fine detail.

Photographs will be selected that depict the times, the country side and nostalgia relevant to our hospital district.

Please submit entries to:

Town looks at choices for grader

The Town of Didsbury continues to investigate all their options thoroughly before following through on the purchase of a new grader.

At their last meeting (June 15) councillors agreed to table the motion allowing the purchase of the capital item until having opportunity to visit a Leduc auction service first.

"This could definitely be worth looking into," said Mayor Ray Lea after hearing the suggestion from Didsbury resident Ken Weaver. Weaver, who attended the council session, told members that Richie Brothers Auction in Leduc is known for their low prices on such equipment and would serve as a viable alternative to buying new.

With trade-in, the Town would have to spend about $86,000 of its capital reserve budget.

An earlier recommendation to approach the county in hopes of sharing a grader proved unsuccessful.

"I spoke with both the County Commissioner, Herman Epp, and Bill Merchant and both indicated that during the winter months, the County would need to have first access to the grader to do their own roads," said Councillor Ed Vermunt.

"...There's no guarantee the grader could be available on any kind of a regular basis."

Vermunt said the County recommended the Town purchase a new grader.

"Unfortunately....," said Councillor Willard Swalm, "when there's a storm out in the county, there's a storm in town here. It just makes sense that we need to see both jobs done for safety's sake."

Vermunt is expected to report back with more information about the date of the next auction in Leduc.

Advisory committee set

The Didsbury detachment of the RCMP has now completed its implementation of the community based policing concept by establishing a "Community Advisory Committee." The purpose of the committee is to act as a communication vehicle between the police and the community. The committee also provides advice to the detachment commander on issues of concern to either the community or the police. Citizens in the Didsbury detachment area should feel free to contact the below listed committee members if they have concerns about policing in the Didsbury detachment area.

Ray Mustard, 335-3381, Box 1270, Didsbury; Bob Wilson, 337-3009, Box 68, Carstairs; Bert Seehawer, 637-3980, Box 351, Cremona; John Grimstead, 638-4433, R.R. #2, Sundre; Doug Sharpe, 335-8251, Box 1344, Didsbury; Bonnie Middleton, 337-3002, Box 986, Carstairs; Grant Bird, 337-2042, R.R. #2, Carstairs; Cary Hatcher, 335-3095, Box 270, Didsbury; Dan Peters, 335-4708, Box 549, Didsbury.

This committee is not intended to take crime complaints and if citizens are victims of specific occurrences such as break, enter and thefts or wilful damage the local emergency complaint line phone 335-3381 should be utilized.

Changes made to Summer Fun program

by Laurie Snyder

Summer Fun has recently undergone several changes to the structure of the program and parents have addressed concerns and compliments towards the changes.

The major concern for most parents has been the unsupervised lunch hour, where children were asked to have a parent or babysitter with them during this time if they wished to stay during the break. The reason for the initial change was the reduction in the number of staff members due to provincial funding cutbacks. Thus, making it impossible for the staff to have a lunch break and maintain necessary leader to children ratio. However, due to the concerns, we have made arrangements for a supervised lunch hour with the help of volunteers.

As parents also may have noticed, the rates have increased considerably due to a decrease in provincial funding. Therefore the size of the staff has been reduced as well as materials. The Didsbury and District Recreation and Culture Board has stated that all the programs that the recreation office provides must be operated on a break-even basis. We have tried to maintain affordable rates comparable to similar programs offered in other communities.

As well as concerns, parents have complimented the fact that each day will be previously planned by the leaders so they may inquire as to exactly what their child may be participating in during each session.

Positive comments have been made concerning the change in location from the portable to the multi-purpose room to allow for more room and a better arrangement for special guests such as musicians, magicians and more.

Please contact Laurie at the Recreation Office at 335-8377 with questions and concerns or for more information.

Hi-tech emergency service

Didsbury's newest fire truck is ready for action. The new tanker, which seats 5 fire fighters, was purchased by the town for $120,000. The Didsbury Rural Fire Protection Association contributed $30,000. Fire Chief Gary Halfyard, DRFPA Secretary/Treasurer Harry Penner, Mayor Ray Lea and Town Administrator Mike Storey are proud of the new tanker, which has yet to be used in action.

Old age security going up in July

The new rate for the federal Old Age Security pension, paid to people 65 years old and over, will be $383.51 per month from July to September 1993. This is an increase of $1.91 per month over the previous quarter.

Other benefits will also increase for the July to September 1993 period. The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) will increase to $455.76 (from $453.49) per month for a single person and for a married person whose spouse does not receive the Old Age Security pension or a Spouse's Allowance. For each married person whose spouse also receives an Old Age Security pension and for a married person whose spouse receives a Spouse's Allowance, the maximum will increase to $296.87

(from $295.39) per month.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance (SPA), paid to people between 60 and 64 with a limited income who are married to GIS recipients, will be $680.38 (up from $676.99) per month.

The maximum Widowed Spouse's Allowance (WSPA), paid only to low-income widowed persons aged 60 to 64 who reside in Canada and meet the basic residence requirements, will be $751.13 (up from $747.39) per month.

The Old Age Security Act provides for benefit increases every three months by a factor based on increases in the Consumer Price Index (CPI), Statistics Canada's cost-of-living measure.

West Didsbury 4-H news

by Ryan Konschuh

This will be the final newsletter of the year. West Didsbury 4-H Horse & Beef Club has done exceptionally well this year.

After the county heifer show in Olds at the end of May where Sara Arthurs gained Supreme Female with her Red Angus cow and calf, we headed to 4-H on Parade in Calgary where 17 beef clubs competed against each other. Christopher Israelson won yearling Simmental championship and the Harvie boys did well with twin Herefords. Karen Roberts won Junior Showmanship and did extremely well with her yearling heifer.

The rest of us who showed placed well in our classes and we gained second place in the stall judging. The horse club held their achievement day in Olds on May 30, and did very well, a great start for a new horse club.

June 9 was our big steer show held in Carstairs, where our club did very well. Nollin Fisher won Supreme Champion steer and Karen Roberts won Reserve Champion steer. Sara Arthurs won Reserve Senior Showman and Cole Harvie won Reserve Junior Showman. The West Didsbury Club won Pen of Fire, and also won the stall award. It was a long day but thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The club would like to thank all our buyers and sponsors for their support. Without them we could not succeed. Your help is much appreciated.

Greyhound gets new computer

by Elaine Wilson

Greyhound Lines of Canada Ltd., is targeting consistency with their computer installation strategy according to Southern Alberta Agency Manager Alan Fenske.

"The computer here in Olds is tied into the main frame in the head office in Calgary," Fenske said. "It establishes a whole new realm of communication between the agent and head office, giving the agent instant access to current information."

Computers don't come cheap, but Greyhound is counting on improved efficiency and better customer relations to make the system pay.

"There are in excess of 600 agents across Canada," Fenske said, noting that agencies with larger freight and passenger volume would be targeted for the upgrade. Introduction of new technology is vital in today's marketplace, Fenske noted, and

Greyhound is no exception. "Greyhound has established itself as the major player in Canada wide inter-city passenger and freight lines, and we're installing [computer billing] systems wherever it's deemed plausible."

Fenske set two freight bills on the counter to demonstrate the improvement. The handwritten bill was faint and difficult to read while the computer bill spelled everything out clearly.

"Greyhound is striving to win continued support from the customer," Fenske said. "It's a definite step in the right direction in the professional arena."

Local Greyhound agent Brian Maetche said minor alterations will be necessary to house the equipment, but foresaw no major disruption. Once the staff becomes familiar with the new equipment, Maetche is confident customers will be pleased with the new streamlined booking and billing system.

Efficiency update

The Greyhound terminal in Olds was updated last week with a new computer expected to help increase efficiency. Brian Maetche hopes the new technology will improve service for his customers. But while the Olds terminal is expanding, customers in Didsbury can expect cuts to service. See the story on the cut backs in next week's Review. (photo by Elaine Wilson)

Unique cattle returned to country of origin

Few of us get the opportunity to travel abroad, let alone live there, with the exception, perhaps of four very special Tarentaise cattle from the Olds/Didsbury area.

The unusual expedition that has landed them somewhere in the Albertville district of the small European country actually only became fulfilled last week. Pat McDonald, who has owned and operated Destiny Tarentaise with her husband Robert for the past seven years says they never dreamed of exporting their newly-formed herd until being approached by well-known Red Deer rancher Gary Smith.

"He has his own cattle exporting company up there and was approached some time ago by a gentleman from France wishing to purchase some Tarentaise stock from Canada," Smith had apparently heard of the McDonald's success with the breed and contacted them about arranging to set up an offer.

Business as usual...except for the fact that this is the first time ever that a breed of cattle native to a particular country has had to be exported back to its origin. "Canada is really quite well-known for exporting cattle, but this is the first time in history that cattle are being shipped back to their country of origin...I mean, you never hear of Holsteins going back to Denmark or Simmentals being shipped back to Switzerland."

The reason, Pat believes, is actually quite tragic. From what she can gather, ranchers in France are experiencing brutal mark-ups in the price of their cattle, so much so that it is almost cheaper for some ranchers to actually buy cattle overseas and ship them abroad than it would be to buy them at home. The other reason has to do with diseases.

"Canada is actually quite a remarkable country for raising cattle," Pat explains. "...while considered a nuisance to us, our colder climate actually helps prevent the development of numerous diseases and ailments often more common in warmer climate. As a result, fewer of our cattle become contaminated. I guess that's why people overseas are so interested in what we've got down here."

But what makes the Tarentaise breed so special that someone from France would travel thousands of miles to buy them in Canada?

"Tarentaise cattle are really quite attractive," Pat says of the large brown-eyed animals. "...They are dark brown with

PERSONALITIES

High school students chosen for tour

Rhonda Roedler from Hugh Sutherland School in Carstairs and Sheldon Valleau of Didsbury High School have been selected, on a basis of audition and recommendation, for membership in the 1993 Canadian Youth on Tour honors ensemble program which will make a 'good-will' concert tour of seven European countries this coming July.

This select organization, consisting of players and singers from Newfoundland through British Columbia, will travel for three weeks in England, France, West Germany, Switzerland, Italy, Belgium, Austria and the Netherlands. In addition to performing concerts in a number of European cities, this ensemble will visit musical shrines, museums, and places of musical interest, as well as attend select concerts and performances in various British and European concert halls and opera houses. C.Y.O.T. provides Canada's outstanding student performers with an opportunity to perform with some of the best student musicians from across Canada. This tour is subsidized slightly but the greatest part of the expense is left up to the individual students. Anyone wishing to assist these worthy students is asked to contact the students directly or their respective band teachers.

Zoning approved for seniors housing

by Elaine Wilson

The future of a proposed senior's housing development once again looks promising.

Primary objections by residents situated adjacent to the project included the insertion of a direct control designation in the proposed by-law and lack of assurance of a green buffer zone.

Town council addressed both concerns by dropping the direct control designation in favor of an R3 (medium density residential) rating and incorporating a green zone in the plan.

"The residents we've talked to have been very supportive of the concept," acting town manager John Van Doesburg said. "There's some residents, obviously, that don't want the area changed- they'd rather see the area left as a park. Council went back to the drawing board [to incorporate the green buffer zone]. We don't know what action [area residents] will take from here. The development agreement is in place, now the [proposed] subdivision has to go to the Red Deer Planning Commission. The building permit can be appealed, that's the democratic right of the residents, but that appeal would go to the [Red Deer] Planning Commission, not town council."

"We listened to the people and we gave them what they wanted," councillor Gary Spurrell said.

"That kind of housing is needed in this town," Mayor Bob Armstrong said. "With all the controversy we've had, there wasn't one person out there ever said anything against the type of housing we were talking about. They did say not in my back yard, but they didn't say they weren't for supportive housing [for seniors]."

Armstrong said he wasn't sure when the project would get underway. "The developers want to be in the ground before fall," he said, "they've got their deadlines too."

Smoke free arena proposal scrapped

by Elaine Wilson

A proposal to remove smoking areas in the Olds Sports Complex made by the executive of the Olds Minor Hockey Association was defeated by town council at their regular June 14 meeting.

Citing an intention to promote "healthy active living to citizens in our community, particularly our youth" the Olds Minor Hockey Association executive had proposed that making the arena a smoke free area would set a better example to our community.

Councillor Donna Stauffer pointed out that many groups make use of the facility.

"Minor hockey is there only a certain amount of the time," Stauffer said. "They're not the only ones who use the facility. What about cabarets? What about beer gardens? If you make it a smoke free facility what you're going to have is people going outside and you're going to have cigarette butts from one end to the other. There is a designated smoking area upstairs. I've been to Grizzly games where there were a thousand people there and I didn't find downstairs was that bad."

Sharing vows

Marvin and Deb Dirk shared their vows with residents of the extended care unit at the Olds General Hospital when they renewed their vows last week. The greeting area was transformed into a chapel for the event.

I take thee- again

by Elaine Wilson

Soft organ music swelled in the background. Candles flickered and colorful decorations lined the aisles and walls. Ushers guided guests to their seats. An expectant hush fell over the packed chapel as the wedding party appeared. Just another wedding? Not quite.

Newlyweds Marvin and Deb Dirk (originally married in a small ceremony last August) were about to renew their wedding vows before a large and delighted congregation in the first wedding ceremony ever held in the Olds hospital.

"June is the traditional month for a wedding," one hospital staff member said, adding, "A lot of the residents miss planning weddings, being a part of things. We decided to hold a ceremony here, so they could be a part of it."

Preparations for the wedding have been ongoing for quite awhile said hospital recreation director Ron Hollingshead.

Volunteer Karen Mengersen said, "In some places like this the residents just sit there but there's always something going on here."

Just prior to the ceremony Rev. Robinson said, "I've done renewal ceremonies, but I've never performed a wedding in a hospital. Marriage by its very nature involves the community. Look at joy on the faces out there." Normally on a Friday morning Robinson, the Olds Anglican minister, would be polishing his Sunday sermon or preparing for his Friday confirmation class, but he was "very happy to be involved. I think it's a fabulous idea."

Horizon School graduates

by Elaine Wilson

Horizon School graduation ceremonies took place in the Olds Legion Hall Thursday night, June 17, 1993. Decked out in formal dress, the five graduating students were Brent Kathol, Steven Lowe, Debbie McFarlane, Jonathan Raessler, and Darryl Siemens.

The graduation theme was 'Our dreams take flight'. The song 'Wind Beneath My Wings' was performed by Steve Scott from Didsbury.

Master of Ceremonies Don Chittick, Chairman of the Horizon School Committee, congratulated the students on their accomplishments and introduced guest speaker Donna Gole, a former instructor and board member of Horizon school.

Gole thanked those gathered for the opportunity to speak to the graduates and alluded to the decorations of birds and balloons festooning the hall in her address.

"I like the words on the walls," Gole said, "Flying, soaring, floating; adjectives that describe the way people travel throughout their lives. Graduates, your flight enables you to learn more about yourselves and others. It started the day you were born. When you came into this world you were each unique, with flight paths destined to be all your own. When we think of flight, most of us think first of those marvellous miracles of engineering- birds. Some people have tried very hard to stop birds from flying by doing things to them like pulling out their flight feathers, clipping their wings, putting them in cages or tying them to their perches. Some people even put hoods over the heads of the birds so they can't fly away. Graduates, there may have been times when you felt like someone or something was trying to stop you. Hopefully these delays have been shortlived, ensuring your flight quickly gets back on schedule."

Most of the graduates plan to continue their education at transitional vocational programs at Olds College or Red Deer College.

Onward and upward

SUNDRE / WESTWARD HO

Pro rodeo set for Sundre

by Janice Harrington

Professional cowboys are polishing up their boots and dusting off their chaps for the Sundre Professional Coors Chute Out Rodeo planned for this weekend.

Recently renamed, the former the Gary Logan Memorial Rodeo has now become a two-day professional rodeo event which will include some of the best bull riders, bronc busters and steer wrestlers from around the country.

Still offering the traditional events Sundre has been known for in the rodeo circuit, the new event will include professional level competition in bareback, steer wrestling, calf roping, bull riding, ladies barrel racing and more. Other events scheduled for the weekend include the team roping event, the Sunpine Stockman's race, chariot and chuckwagon races, mutton busting, boys steer riding, wild cow milking and the business-man's calf tying.

Slack events begin at 8 am Saturday, June 26. Other rodeo events will take place Friday, June 25 starting at 6 pm, and Saturday and Sunday starting at 2 pm.

Other events during the weekend long rodeo include a pancake breakfast and parade to take place Saturday morning beginning at 7 am. The breakfast will be held in the parking lot of the IGA. Parade judging will begin at 10 am.

A beer garden and dance is also planned for both Friday and Saturday nights in the arena.

Ending off both Saturday and Sunday evenings will be fireworks, starting at 11 pm.

CREMONA / WATER VALLEY

Plans set for Cremona Day

by Janice Harrington

Hoping to expand on the success of the previous decade, organizers are preparing for another well attended July 1 celebration in Cremona.

The event, known as Cremona Day, is planned to entice residents and former residents alike home to celebrate their hometown and the Canada Day holiday.

"This has been a tradition in Cremona for quite a few years," said Penny Fox, Chamber member and organizer for the event. "The idea is more to have everyone in town get together, but we also get help from the Canada Day committee. This year they gave us a few hundred dollars for the fireworks."

Not ones to fool with success, this year's organizers are planning to continue a number of the festivities that have become tradition for the Cremona Day fun. The breakfast, parade, mixed slo-pitch tournament and chili supper will all be offered again. But along with the old also comes some new events for 1993.

"This will be the first year that we have ever charged for the breakfast, so that's new," said Fox. "Before we only asked for donations but this year we are going to donate the proceeds to STARS."

As well, Fox said the committee has decided to bring back the gymkhana which had once been a part of the day.

"People had been asking us about it but when the chamber took over the day from the Ag Society about 4 years ago, none of us knew anything about horses. But this year we have a member who wanted to take that on."

Also new for 1993 will be the horseshoe competition. Fox said Cremona has a number of horseshoe pits left over from the Summer Games so they decided to make use of them. Also planned is an artists' open house, an antique car display, a hose laying competition, a talent show and, to wrap things up, a fireworks display starting at 10:30 pm.

"We really enjoy doing this every year," Fox said. "It isn't just our group putting it on, it's a number of groups. The whole community gets involved. Otherwise it wouldn't be nearly as good as it is because there are only a few of us and we can't possibly do everything, but when other community groups volunteer, you can get a lot accomplished."

The Cremona Day fun starts at 8 am with the pancake breakfast.

Berreth guilty of lesser charge

by Janice Harrington

A local man charged with cruelty to animals by the SPCA was fined after pleading guilty to a lesser charge last week.

Dwayne Berreth, who farms 6 km south of Olds, was charged by the SPCA last year after more than 350 head of cattle were seized by an SPCA officer who reportedly found the cattle suffering from starvation. Berreth had been charged with wilful neglect under the Criminal Code, but instead plead guilty to a charge under the Animal Protection Act.

tection Act.

But while Berreth plead guilty to the lesser charge, a friend of his said most of the charges made against Berreth were trumped up and fabricated. Herman Dorin, who raises cattle and horses in Didsbury, said he feels the SPCA acted improperly by seizing Berreth's cattle.

"The SPCA maintained that he had not been feeding or watering his cattle and that they found some of them dead when they visited his farm, but he (Berreth) says he was only having problems with his corralling and some bales of hay had fallen over and killed three of the smaller cattle," Dorin said. "And if you meet this guy, you'll know that he isn't the kind to tell you a lie. He is very ethical and moral in his own way and very firmly believes in the old-fashioned morality."

Dorin said Berreth's cattle had not been underfed and underwatered as charged by the SPCA. He said Berreth was having some problems with corralling and with his water pump when he was visited by the SPCA officer. While Dorin said the feed Berreth had been giving his cattle was not as good a quality as it should be, he felt the SPCA should have been more willing to try and help Dorin out of his situation rather than cart away the animals and sell them off.

"In their report they even said he was in a very depressed state but rather than offering to help him get his animals back into good shape, they just seized them. They should have offered him help rather than taking this police state approach."

Dorin said Berreth, who had spent much of his time taking care of his aged mother, was recently diagnosed as suffering from depression and is now getting counselling.

"That's why he chose to plead guilty on the lesser charge," Dorin said. "He would have followed through with the not guilty but he was having too many difficulties."

Besides a $3500 fine which Berreth was handed by the court in Calgary last week, he was also prohibited from caring for any cattle for the next three years.

Cattle

"This breed of cattle is very highly respected in the area of France where he will be taking them...We were watching some of the Winter Olympics coverage on television recently and were able to spot them in a parade that was going through one of the small towns. It was really thrilling to see cattle like our own all the way over there."

An interesting aside is that in France, the dual-purpose breed is popular for either dairy or beef purposes. "Because of a special protein found in their milk, farmers over there produce this very special and unique cheese called 'Beaumont'." Back here that sort of acceptance for the breed has been slower to come. "There's a lot of curiosity surrounding this breed from fellow ranchers, but people are pretty skeptical and slow to accept change."

No matter. For now, Pat says she's happy raising the herd she has of over 140 full blood and percentage cattle. If the opportunity returns, she says she wouldn't mind exporting more of her herd, but is prepared to let destiny take its course.

black around the edges of their tail and around the neck of the bulls. They also have a mild temperament and excellent maternal rearing abilities. They rarely get some of the ailments our other cattle did in the past such as pink eye, and are useful for either beef or dairy purposes."

Out of the 100 head of cattle the French client requested through Gary Smith, only about 40 were allowed to be exported. Much of the reason behind the shortfall, Pat says, has to do with vaccination requirements and restrictions. Breeders are only able to vaccinate Tarentaise cattle up until they are about eight months old, after that - according to the officials with Agriculture Canada, it's too late. Such was the case with a handful of heifers from McDonald's herd. "He came expecting to get about 17 head out of our herd and went away with only five...but at least he got something."

The Dancing Bulldog

If at first you don't succeed, try and try again, That was Scotty Olson's creed, the month of June was when.

World class flyweight Albertan had a hand in making news,

A 6th round KO victory over Mario of Cruz.

So now all boxing people on alert, what's next on tap, What steps can Scotty sign for while some boxer takes the rap.

The Bulldog, with a record, pro, of 24-1, Which adds up to his age and time to get the title won. Must hope the big ring poo-bahs see the super chance he's got,

And give the dancing Bulldog one more, any title shot, McAuley or Cepeda, maybe Michael Carbahal, Whoever they can line up, Scotty Olson wants it all.

SPORTS

Recreation views

by Laurie Snyder,
Senior Program Coordinator

The Didsbury and District Recreation and Culture Board present several summer events for everyone to get fit and active this summer.

Beginning in July there will be a portable outdoor volleyball set available for all Town of Didsbury residents to rent. You may want to rent the set from the Didsbury Aquatic Centre, for beach parties, barbecues and other outdoor parties.

Celebrate summer with the Teen Pool Bash and Barbecue on the evening of July 7th at the Didsbury Aquatic Centre. Open for anyone 13 years to 19 years old. Barbequed hamburgers (2 each), pop, chips and pool admission are included in the price of the event. The event also features water games such as, volleyball, basketball, water polo and more. For more information please contact Shawna at the Recreation Office at 335-8377.

The Alberta Basketball Association will be running a basketball clinic for people in grades 7 to 12. The clinic introduces the sport to beginners and helps reinforce and teach new skills to more advanced players.

A reminder that Canada Day celebrations take place July 1 on Main Street in Didsbury. The celebrations feature local entertainment, great food, such as beef on a bun, corn and more. As well as face painting, relays and races for the children.

Summer Fun registration begins June 21 at the Recreation Office and a registration night is on June 23. Summer Fun brochures may be picked up at the Recreation Office or the Didsbury Aquatic Centre.

The Gatti Circus arrives in town August 16 to entertain everyone, young and old, to kicking off the Agricultural Fair and Rodeo on August 20 to 22 in Didsbury.

Please note that the Arthur Ashe Foundation for the Defeat of AIDS is manning a campaign to raise funds for AIDS research and related care for AIDS patients. Jean Craven of Didsbury is involved, through Alberta Tennis Association, collecting donations and distributing information concerning The Arthur Ashe Foundation and AIDS awareness. You may contact Jean at 335-4938.

Cremona Minor Hockey news

by Ryan Robertson

To four young hockey players based in Cremona, the week of July 16th - 23rd should prove to be the greatest thrill of their early careers. The four, Clayton Backstrom, Darcy Hinde, Kaleb Marr - who are Atom majors - and Cody Farquharson who is a Pee Wee minor, were chosen out of eighty players to participate with the Calgary Dynastars in a Triple A Tournament in Brandon, Manitoba.

Their accomplishment was certainly a result not only of their own abilities and hard work, but a spill over of the tremendous effort put forth by the Cremona Minor Hockey and Ringette Association and the Cremona Agricultural Society. Now entering our seventh year of existence, the strides taken in such a short time are paying dividends. Without an arena none of this would have been possible and my hat is off to the pioneers who did the hard work and gave us four representatives for this opportunity. To Clayton, Darcy, Kaleb and Cody, give it your best shot and good luck - you're from Cremona, Alberta and we are all proud of you.

BOP contribution

Lance Plewis, President of the Build Our Pool Society presented a cheque to Mayor Ray Lea and Town Administrator Mike Storey for the hot tub in the new Didsbury Aquatic Centre. The cheque totalled $64,427. Bop now wants to get work together on the pool's steam room.

The royal and ancient game comes to Alberta

Early players in the new province chased the little white ball over train tracks and cow patties

In 1890, a handful of bored Mounties gathered behind the barracks of Fort Macleod and played a game never before seen in the Northwest Territories. Using their bare hands, they dug three small, shallow holes in the hard prairie soil. Then the officers took turns knocking a ball around the scrub with a short, iron-footed club. Golf had come to Alberta.

The windswept, treeless territory was hardly a golfer's paradise, but there was a strong interest in the game among newcomers. By the turn of the century, Edmonton and Calgary boasted active golf clubs, patronized by both men and women, but discreetly reserved for the "well bred." Membership fees ranged from 50 cents to $3, and while courses were originally established on Crown lands, it cost money to prepare them for play and build clubhouses. Equally important to the game was the temperament required of its fans: the hard-bitten Scots (whose ancestors, of course, invented golf) and the English seemed particularly suited to golf's vagaries.

Apparel was important. Victorian convention forced women into suffocating "golf suits" - riding breeches and woollen skirts over thick stockings, with blouses and sweaters topped with Eton jackets or golf capes. Men wore two- or three-piece suits complete with necktie, causing an unbecoming perspiration on hot summer days.

Players really had to be keen on the game. Early courses featured long, ragged fairways and heart-stopping hazards. The Edmonton Golf Club's original course, which was on the future site of the legislative grounds, had five holes and ran up and down the steep North Saskatchewan riverbank. Golfers approaching the first hole had to play past an old graveyard, and the third hole required players to cross the railroad tracks to get to the tee. The course was also intersected by a muddy road. In Calgary, things weren't much better: the local nine-hole course bordered the CPR tracks, and club members had to put up with dirt putting greens and wandering livestock.

In 1906, the Calgary Golf Club bought some land along the Elbow River, south of its original course. With 57 members, the club had enough money to buy electric fencing to keep the cows out. A year later, the Edmonton club, forced to make way for the new Legislature, moved a little west up the river valley to a location known as the Hudson Bay flat. There they built a nine-hole course at the location now occupied by the Victoria golf course.

The game was promoted in both cities by a portly judge named David Scott. A former crown lawyer who had helped send Louis Riel to the gallows, Scott founded the Calgary Golf Club in 1897 (nearly winning the club championship in 1899) and then moved to Edmonton in 1902 to become a pillar of that city's club. His wife, Alice, also a keen golfer, was known for her famous clubhouse teas and dances. These attracted new "social" members not even remotely interested in golf. Because they were private, the early clubs could remain open on Sundays and even sell liquor.

In 1911, the clubs in both cities moved up their respective rivers to their present-day out-of-town locations. Calgary's was ten miles up the Elbow, near the old homestead of Calgary's first white settler, Sam Livingston. The move caused enrolment to explode to 250 members. The Edmonton club moved eight miles upstream to its permanent home, and on the flat, grassy expanse it vacated, the city built a municipal course for the free usage of all citizens, regardless of their wealth. As a participant sport, golf soon rivalled curling, that other grim Scottish pastime.

[This story is one of hundreds appearing in "Alberta in the Twentieth Century," the magnificent 11-volume history of our province being produced, one volume a year, throughout the 1990s. You can see and purchase your copy of Volume 1, entitled "The Great West Before 1900," (292 pages with 279 great pictures) at your local Alberta Treasury Branch.)

Members of the Edmonton Golf Club circa 1896. The course was located on the future Legislature grounds.

Obituaries

MILLER

Mrs. Madeline Miller of Didsbury and Edmonton, passed away in the University Hospital in Edmonton on Wednesday, June 16, 1993 at the age of 81 years. She was born Madeline Nolan in her mother and father's log homestead house at Knee Hill Valley, Alberta on July 28, 1911.

She attended Normal School in Calgary and taught school at Horse Shoe Lake School for 3 years until her marriage to Jack Miller, at that time of Wimbome, Alberta. Madeline taught school and was principal at the Wimbome and Milner Schools before moving to Didsbury in 1961. She taught English and Drama in the Didsbury High School until retiring in 1973.

Left to mourn are two sons, Bill and his wife Gladys of Vancouver, Michael and his wife Rita of Calgary, her daughter, June Miller of Edmonton, one grandson, seven granddaughters and two great grandsons, her three sisters, Alice Beckman of Edmonton, Elaine Petersen of Innisfail, Peggy Guthrie of California and one sister-in-law Nancy Nolan of Red Deer.

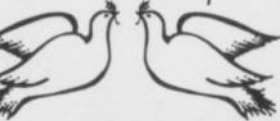

Mrs. Miller was predeceased by her parents, her brother Bill Nolan and her husband, Jack Miller, who died in 1986.

Funeral services were held on Monday, June 21, 1993 at 2 p.m. from Zion Evangelical Church, Didsbury with Reverend Richard Pahl of Zion Church and Father Dan Ash St. Augustine's Anglican Church of Edmonton officiating. Pallbearers were Jim Yousph, Jack Benedict, Doug Sherris, Brian Banfield, Harold See and Charlie Whitley. Interment followed in the Didsbury Cemetery.

Memorial donations may be given to the charity or church of one's choice. Mountain View Funeral Chapels, Olds & Didsbury entrusted with arrangements.

JACKSON

Mrs. Frances Emily Jackson went to rest June 15, 1993 at the age of 84 years. She had battled heart disease and diabetes in her last years, but always constant was her will and love of life - this is her legacy.

Born in 1909 in England, she immigrated at 9 months of age with her family to Canada. She married Frank in 1932 and resided in Westerdale. In her earlier years Frances was a gardening enthusiast, loved fishing, card playing, following local ball and hockey teams and wrote a column for the Didsbury Pioneer. As a strong supporter of the community, Frances was always ready to lend a hand with baking, quilting and the many activities of the Westerdale Willing Workers. Still wanting to keep active in her later years, she was swimming at the ripe age of 82 years.

Frances is survived by her loving daughter Phyllis (Dick) Pihl of Olds; granddaughters Debbie (Dennis) Lang of Red Deer, Linda (Patrick) Chapman of Calgary, many nieces and nephews and 6 great grandchildren.

She was predeceased by her sister, Thelma Wigley in 1942; father, Leonard N. Jones in 1956; mother, Winnifred Jones in 1971; brother, Robert Arthur 1974; husband, Frank J. Jackson in 1987.

Funeral services were held on Saturday, June 19, 1993 at 2:30 p.m. at Knox United Church, Didsbury with Dr. Ken Jordan officiating. Debbie Lang delivered a Eulogy and Grace Duff sang Amazing Grace. Interment was at the Westerdale Cemetery. As expressions of sympathy, contributions may be made to the Canadian Diabetes Association.

Arrangements were in the care of Didsbury Funeral Chapel Ltd.

Local wins national essay award

For the second time a Didsbury student has won the National Award in the Elks and Royal Purple Literary and Poster Contest.

Jennifer Gingrich, a Gr. XII student at Didsbury High School won the $1,500 scholarship for her essay entitled "The Effects of Drug and Alcohol on Society". She will be attending university this fall.

The winning essay follows:
"And Behind Door Number One..."

I stared at the imposing metal doors and tried to make out the faint inscription on them. As I strained closer and was still unable to decipher what the words were, I attempted to retreat from the imposing building. Just as I was turning away, the great doors swung open and invited me in.

My eyes had to adjust to the dimness around me. Soon, though, I could see what kind of place I was in. It looked to be a hallway, a seemingly endless hallway with rows of doors on either side. In the center of each door was a window.

A door loomed ahead of me on the left side of the hall and as I stepped closer I could see a growing light shining through the window. I realized that I could look through the window and into the room. With a deep breath, unsure of what I might see, I peered through the glass.

The scene before me was idyllic. A family consisting of a mother, father, teenaged daughter and small son were sitting together watching T.V. and sharing a bowl of popcorn. The family began to laugh at something and the bowl was accidentally knocked over by the girl. Suddenly the mood in the room changed. It was no longer a pleasant family scene as the father jumped to his feet and glared at the girl who was now cowering on her knees. I couldn't hear the word he began to yell, but as he grew visibly angrier the girl tried to crawl away. He took two quick steps towards her and yanked her to her feet, ignoring both his wife's attempts to hold him back and his young son's tears. The father obviously thought spilling popcorn was a serious crime and he began to beat his daughter. It was then I noticed the full glass on the table near where the father had been sitting and the nearly empty bottle next to it. When the father struck the girl again, she fell onto the table and knocked the bottle off it. The tears in the girl's eyes seemed to reflect the image of the shattered glass as she stared at her father in terror. It was then I realized that hers was another family shattered by alcohol.

The room grew dim again and I turned back towards the entrance in hopes of escaping the building. To my shock, the door had disappeared and the hallway now stretched out in both directions, shrouded in darkness. Just then I noticed a light in the window of a door across the hall. It seemed the only way I could find the exit was to follow where the lighted rooms were leading me. Reluctantly, I crossed the hall and braced myself for the scene in the next room.

The light in this room wasn't much brighter than the hall and I took a moment to make out the shapes. I saw a sight that filled my heart with happiness. A nurse stood in the center of a busy nursery holding a very tiny baby. The sleeping infant looked angelic as the nurse rocked her to sleep. In an instant, the peace was broken as the fragile baby began to shake. She quickly grew red in the face as she arched her back and shrieked. Then I noticed the incubator and the I.V. tubes attached to her tiny limbs. As the nurse tried to comfort the baby, I caught sight of a sign that explained the scene before me. This child was in a specialized ward for babies born addicted to the drugs their mothers abused before their birth. I shuddered as I thought about the nightmare these infants must endure through no fault of their own.

My eyes filled with tears as I turned away from the second window. I was slowly realizing that the scenes being played out before me were not going to get any better. I longed to close my eyes and block out the horrors I was seeing. But, after a moment, I realized that far too many people had ignored this problem and it was my obligation to become better informed in order to do what I could to end the pain. Resolutely, I moved to look into the third window.

In this room, the pain was visible immediately. A man in his early 20's sat slumped in a wheelchair, staring at a photo in his hands. Suddenly, as the light on him faded and a scene behind him grew brighter, I realized that physical pain wasn't all he was enduring. A mangled car was overturned in a ditch and on the nearby pavement lay the lifeless body of a young teenaged boy. Near the boy lay a crushed beer can. When the light returned to the paralyzed young man I glanced at the picture he held in his hands. In the snapshot, the man stood with his arms wrapped around a boy about 13 years old to whom he bore a striking resemblance. I thought of the careless mistake the young man made and the senseless agony he would have to live with for the rest of his life.

I turned away from the window and was surprised to see a door open out into the sunshine. I felt a lightness enter my heart when I realized that the exit was within my sight. But before I could leave this dreary hallway, I faced one last door. Even though the spring sunshine was beckoning me from the darkness, I felt compelled to see just what the last room had in store for me. I felt sure that the images couldn't get any worse.

This final room held the greatest shock of all. The room contained my best friends and my acquaintances. There in the midst of underage drinking and illegal drug abuse, I sat. Before my eyes, I gave in to the pressure from those around me to have a few more beers and sample a wide array of drugs. The next instant saw my best friend leaving the party with a stranger because, in her drunken state, she didn't realize the danger she was putting herself into. And then I saw myself, lost and alone, trapped in a downward spiral of alcoholism and drug abuse. Then as the lights flashed, I saw a boy I knew from school, lying dead in an alley from an overdose. At that moment, I finally realized what my trip down the hallway was supposed to teach me. Drugs and alcohol can affect anyone's life.

I backed away from the last doorway in panic and rushed out of the exit door into the clean, bright sunshine. As I gasped for air, it was as if a light went on in my mind and I finally realized what the abuse of drugs and alcohol was doing in the world around me. I began to walk away from the imposing building behind me, lost in my thoughts. Abruptly, I stopped and glanced back at the place that had taught me so much in just one afternoon. I was astonished to see that I could clearly read the words that I had struggled with so much upon entering the building. From a distance the sun glistened off an

630 - CARDS OF THANKS

Thanks to Dr. Read for his care and patience with me. To the nurses and staff of the Didsbury Health Care Centre for the excellent care I received while there. To Gladys McInnes, my room companion for her kindness and help to a patient herself. Also to my relatives and friends for taking the time to visit me during a very busy time. Thank you all

Florence Fulkert

10-1tp

I would like to thank all my relatives and friends who helped me celebrate my 75th. Many thanks for the delicious food that was provided and so beautifully set up. May I say how very much I appreciated all the lovely flowers, gifts and cards. Thanks seems to be such a very small word to express my sincere feelings so here's a great big "THANK YOU" everybody.

Florence Cawsey

To our many friends who took the time and effort to come and help us celebrate our 50th Wedding Anniversary, we say thank you. To our children who worked so hard and put on a lovely program to make it a special time for us, we also say thank you. We love and appreciate you all.

Stuart and Myrtle Hooper.

640 - IN MEMORIAM

FIFE:

In loving memory of James Richard Fife, who passed away June 18, 1989: "O happy hours we once enjoyed, How sweet their memory still.

But death has left a loneliness, The world can never fill. We hold you close within our hearts, And there you will remain. To walk with us throughout our lives until we meet again."

Lovingly remembered and sadly missed by his family.

Let's go to the circus!

Going to the circus is a lot of fun. There are so many things going on at once. What's your favorite part of the circus? The interesting facts below may help you decide:

• Bears were the first wild animals to be trained to do tricks and perform circus shows. Others, like the beautiful white horses with plumes came later.

• The trotting horse performance is often called the "carrousel" or "merry-go-round" because the horses trot in a perfect circle around a ring.

• And, what about those enormous elephants? Where do they come from? Most arrive from India. The African elephants have larger ears, and are much fiercer, so it is easier to train Indian elephants.

Lions, tigers, seals, monkeys and camels are just a few of the many creatures that give us hours of enjoyment and pleasure when the circus comes to town! Oh, and don't forget the clowns!

DID YOU KNOW?

OWLS HAVE ESPECIALLY SOFT PLUMAGE WHICH ENABLES THEM TO FLY SILENTLY AND POUNCE ON UNSUSPECTING PREY.

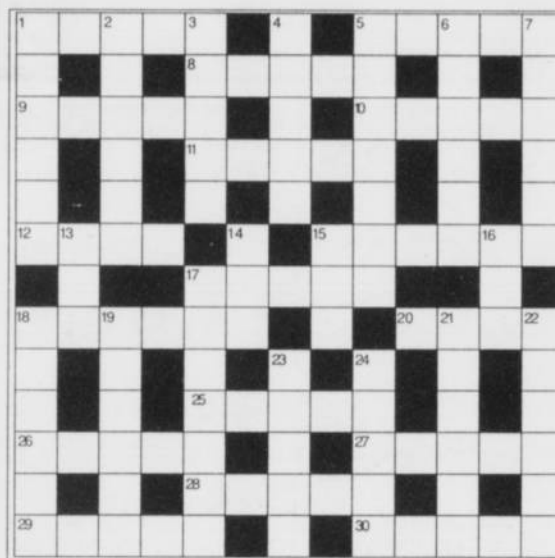

METEORS MAY BE SEEN BY A NIGHTTIME OBSERVER ON AN AVERAGE OF FIVE TIMES PER HOUR. THESE ARE KNOWN AS SPORADIC METEORS OR SHOOTING STARS. AROUND 20 TIMES PER YEAR A METEOR SHOWER OCCURS SHOWING BETWEEN 20 AND 35,000 PER HOUR.

MAMMOTHS WERE EXTINCT A MILLION YEARS AGO. WHEN THEIR FOSSILS WERE FOUND, SCIENTISTS WERE ABLE TO DETERMINE A LOT FROM THEM. SCIENTISTS COULD EVEN TELL WHAT THE MAMMOTH'S LAST MEALS WERE.
